13:45:26 From Beth : Read Wishcraft in 2000 and have been following Barbara ever since: so inspirational. Wonderful to share this memorial from Summerland, BC, Canada

13:45:58 From Pascale Scheurer : From my Mom: "Refuse to Choose helped me understand why I keep going from one thing to the other, while at the same time being able to stick to certain things for very long periods of 20 years or more - and to accept it as just a normal thing for me to do. I was just reading it again recently."

13:46:42 From Teresa - London : Learning about the "scanner" thing was SUCH a liberation! I wasn't half mad any longer, nor a fantasist, nor scattered or procastrinating. Such a relief to understand myself in that light!

13:47:35 From Olivier Dierickx - Belgium : ?? Teresa

13:48:36 From Bill Connington : I also have found her book I Could Do Anything very inspirational and helpful -

She was an authentic person with a big heart. She was one in a billion. Miss her. Love from Steffie

13:52:27 From Bill Connington : Yes - so many people tell scanners they need to focus on one thing. It's liberating to know that you don't necessarily need to do that.

13:54:48 From patriciaaileenrancis : Met Barbara first at her San Francisco workshop around 1990. What I learned from Barbara gave my life Magic & encouragement to follow big & little dreams. And she taught me to better hear & encourage others' dreams. Going to pass on her TED talk link to folks today to celebrate Barbara. Thanks to all who keep her lovely light going.

The Success Teams are calling to me

15:22:37 From Andrea in black, Alice in pink/blue, possible cats : Janal, You asked about her apartment. It was fabulously eccentric and interesting. She lived in Manhattan most of her life on the upper west side. In the 90s, she got inspired to renovate the apartment in such cool ways. One room was "The Greek room", designed to look like a Greek cottage, with white walls, a beam build across the ceiling by a set designer, wooden chairs hanging up high on hooks like in a Greek cottage. There was the "Turkish Room", with a gorgeous carpet on the floor, a low wooden table, cushions to sit cross legged on, curtains she jerry rigged herself, and gold doilies on the windows. Then there was the room where she had appointments with people, which was rose pink with lighter pink rugs. We used to secretly call it "The Transylvanian Whorehouse". She adored her plants in the windows of that room. Kilim carpets from Turkey were stacked up very high along one side. The room she worked in was her bedroom, with her computer right beside the window. In every room she had lots of lamps.

15:22:39 From Olivier Dierickx - Belgium : ????? Brooke

15:23:06 From PhyllisWalker_MacAir : Yes, Mary Ann re the PO Lady!

15:23:36 From Susan Slavin : we can't find 3 dots in the chat to save. (we are on android phone) help!!!

15:23:42 From PhyllisWalker_MacAir : Yes! It WORKS, Mary Ann!

15:23:46 From Andrea in black, Alice in pink/blue, possible cats : She hated overhead lamps! She subsisted on Peets coffee. There was also the "Dante bathroom" with gargolye stone statues along the floor, gold stars on the ceiling, Dante poems scrawled on the wall like graffiti.

15:24:17 From Jennifer Blair : I have to go now. Let's honor Barbara by following our dreams & helping others reach theirs.

15:24:26 From samantha : thank you so much Ingrid, Patty and Andrea (& everyone who shared their stories)

It IS important to have people who cheer is on and it IS important not to be isolated.
